Cameron Wall Earns Elite Balloon Instructor Accreditation!

8/21/2020 The Elite Balloon Instructor Committee is proud to announce Mr. Cameron Wall as an Elite Balloon Instructor!

Wall, from Albuquerque, NM, is owner/president of Peak View Ballooning where he provides passenger rides and flight training. Wall has devoted his time and energy to growing the sport of ballooning. He has trained three students to private this summer alone with more on the way! FAA Designated Pilot Examiner Adam Magee has taken note of the preparedness of Wall's students, "applicants coming from Cameron have been very well prepared for their practical exam. It is evident that their training has consisted of a thorough review of the Practical Test Standards and that proficiency, safety and good judgement is the cornerstone of their training."

As an instructor, Wall is energetic and engaging. Former student Brad Hosmer says, "Cameron has an infectious love for ballooning which is shared with students. Cameron is always upbeat and positive while giving instruction which puts students at ease and allows them to reach their full potential."

As an educator, Wall has developed pre-solo written exams, lesson plans, and study guides.

Wall has provided great service to the aviation community and has kept his own professional education up to date. Wall has attended numerous safety seminars, webinars, and ground schools. Wall has been an advocate for youth in ballooning volunteering at youth summer camps and as a board member for the Aerostatic Navigators Under Thirty.

Elite Balloon Instructor

The Elite Balloon Instructor Program fueled by the National Association of Flight Instructors (NAFI) was created to differentiate between commercial balloon pilots. In the ballooning community, all commercial pilots are considered flight instructors. The Elite Balloon Instructor Program will separate those who provide flight instruction and are raising and maintaining the professional standing of the flight instructor in the ballooning community.
